1. Guiding philosophy

- 1.1. This policy is an expression of commitment for creating a university that deeply values every student; endeavors to nurture freedom of expression; and strives to be an exemplar to students in ideal professional conduct and accountability.
- 1.2. Students are the main stakeholders in any institution imparting education and it is the University's endeavour to create an effective redressal mechanism for an effective, timely and fair grievance handling system for its students.
- 1.3. This policy is also an acknowledgement that all systems and process can improve continuously. If suggestions and grievances are brought up in a structured and responsible manner, they will always help Krea become a better place for the next generation of students.
- 1.4. The University seeks that everyone involved in the redressal mechanism treat every grievance as an opportunity for improving Krea and the various rules and policies that govern it.
- 1.5. Every new version of this policy is also a reflection of the limitations of the previous one and that Krea is committed to continuous improvement of this policy for all times to come.

2. Approach

- 2.1. The policy and processes detailed in this document are not those of a court of law and the University expects that they will be planned and implemented in the spirit of collegiality.
- 2.2. All students should make an effort to resolve concerns informally by engaging with Faculty mentors, Division Heads before beginning the grievance redressal process, and such efforts may continue even after the grievance redressal process is underway.
- 2.3. It is worth noting that every grievance filed by a student will be taken on priority and with utmost seriousness and senior-most faculty and administrators may be involved in resolution of the grievance. It is imperative that the grievant exercise great care and judgement in filing a grievance since it will call for a significant investment of time, effort and resources by the University.
- 2.4. All communication or material shared in the process of filing and resolution of the grievance will be kept confidential and treated with great care in the process of resolution.
- 2.5. This policy should be viewed and applied in conjunction with the following policies that relate to creating systems and processes that enables a great learning and residence life as well as in fostering a sense of discipline and order among various members of the Krea community:

- 2.5.1. Code of Conduct for Students
