1. Guiding philosophy

- 1.1. This policy is a commitment to making Krea a safe, respectful and caring environment for all its stakeholders irrespective of their gender, mode of association with the University and position in the organization.
- 1.2. This policy sets a high bar on standards of interpersonal and professional conduct between stakeholders with the end goal of allowing everyone to engage with each other without any fear of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct or any such exploitation.
- 1.3. In keeping with the spirit of education and training, the larger purpose of this policy is also to continually educate all our stakeholders about matters of sexual harassment and sexual misconduct so that each one can take these learnings and apply it to improve their personal and professional context within and beyond Krea on related issues.

2. Regulatory context

The University believes that sexual harassment and sexual misconduct is a form of human rights violation and a transgression on equality, liberty and dignity under the provisions of our Constitution. Krea University is committed to ensuring the protection and safeguard of such rights of all those who fall within its jurisdiction.

- 2.1. The Supreme Court of India, in August 1997 (Vishaka & others vs. the State of Rajasthan & others) stated: “....every instance of sexual harassment is a violation of Fundamental Rights under Articles 14, 15, and 21 of the Constitution of India, and amounts to a violation of the Right to Freedom under Article 19 (1)(g)”.
- 2.2. Article 15 of the Constitution of India prohibits discrimination on the grounds of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth and Article 19(1) (g) of the Constitution of India upholds women’s right “.....to practice any profession, or to carry on any occupation, trade or business...”.
- 2.3. Sexual Harassment is an offence under the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013.
- 2.4. Certain provisions of the IPC like Section 345E also address matters of sexual harassment and have been accounted for this in Policy.
- 2.5. Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act of 2012, provisions for dealing with cases of sexual harassment and/or sexual misconduct of / with minors (less than 18 years of age) and will be applicable in the University, in normal circumstances, for first or second year of undergraduate students.

3. Approach

- 3.1. The University will respond to complaints with measures designed to stop the behavior, prevent the recurrence of the prohibited conduct, and remediate any adverse effects of such conduct on campus or in University-related programs or activities off-campus or while travelling on University related works or activities. In case the incident involves a faculty/administrative staff and a student, the policy will be applied even in those circumstances where the interaction between the concerned parties is on personal account and not because of university related activities.

- 3.2. All forms of conduct prohibited under this policy are regarded as serious offenses, and violations will result in disciplinary action, including the possibility of termination of employment, enrolment or engagement with the University.
- 3.3. National and State laws also address sexual harassment and sexual misconduct matters, and criminal prosecution may take place independently of any disciplinary action instituted by the University.
- 3.4. Retaliation against anyone involved in filing a complaint under this policy will not be tolerated.
- 3.5. Confidentiality and privacy:
 - 3.5.1. Every individual involved in investigations or disciplinary proceedings under this policy will exercise extreme caution in sharing information about the parties involved and the process of deliberation in order to safeguard both, the reputation of all concerned and the integrity of the process.
 - 3.5.2. The University has an obligation to do everything reasonably possible to investigate and address complaints or reports of violations of this policy, however, in all such proceedings, the University will refrain from impinging on the privacy of the parties like seeking any medical or any other personal records of parties.
- 3.6. Promptness: Complainants are urged to report any violation of this policy as soon as possible in order to enable the University to respond promptly and effectively. However, complaints and reports may be made at any time without regard to how much time has lapsed since the event/incident/situation in consideration.
- 3.7. The designated authorities will have all the powers to take necessary action against an offender who is found guilty.
